

Overview

Universal Calling, Inc., a global provider of long distance products and services, is launching a domestic and international reservationless teleconferencing product on the Company's new Web destination, ConferenceCalls.com. The ConferenceCalls.com product provides customers with extraordinary sound quality and the most reliable service from any location, phone or mobile device. The product connects up to 50 participants and saves individuals and businesses as much as 90 percent on calls from any country to any country, at any time.

Product Features

Hosts and Participants In The United States:

- Access conference calls through national area codes, toll free numbers, or Web dial-out. (Web dial-out participants are granted access to the conference call.) The per person per minute rate for national area codes and Web dial-out is 2.7 cents and for toll free numbers, 3.7 cents.

Hosts and Participants From More than 40 Countries:

- Access meetings through a toll free number or Web dial-out. Per person per minute rates vary depending upon origin of call. From Canada toll free calls cost 9 cents U.S. per person per minute and Web dial-out is 2.7 cents U.S. per person per minute. From UK toll free calls are 16 cents U.S. per person per minute and Web dial-out is billed at 3.6 cents U.S. per person per minute.

Hosts and Participants In Any Country Worldwide:

- Access meetings through Web dial-out. Rate depends upon the origin of call

Additional Rate Information:

- ConferenceCalls.com bills in one minute increments for all connected calls.
- Product prepaid with no commitment, contracts or hidden costs and sold at a single rate with no day or time restrictions.

Online Account Management

Each conference call includes a free live conference room manager, so that customers can gain full access to online history, store up to 30 numbers and recharge an account in real time while on the call.

Promotion

Each first-time user of ConferenceCalls.com in the United States receives 100 conference minutes free with no purchase or credit card required. Free conferencing minutes are available for international users as well. (The number of minutes for international users depends upon the origin of the call.) Businesses are encouraged to make this offer available to their employees; there is no restriction on multiple users from the same company.
